

UNIVERSITY of DALLAS

Position Title: Assistant Professor of Classical Education Job Number: 13863UD
Department of Education and Classical Learning Date Posted: October 12, 2023

WHO WE ARE

The University of Dallas is a Catholic university that seeks to educate the whole person, encouraging its students to pursue wisdom, truth and virtue as the proper and primary ends of education. We have consistently ranked as one of the top regional universities in the country. All employees are expected to understand and support the Mission.

JOB DESCRIPTION

This position is a full-time, tenure-track appointment at the assistant professor level beginning Fall 2024. Primary teaching responsibilities include teaching online (synchronous and asynchronous) graduate courses in the Classical Education Program, such as Trivium, Quadrivium, Classical Pedagogy-Ancient and Modern, Master Teachers of the Western Tradition, Plato and Socratic Conversation, or Philosophy of Education. The successful candidate will also learn to advise students and supervise Master's theses. The University of Dallas serves the needs of undergraduate and graduate students who aim to teach. To advance these goals, the Department of Education and Classical Learning is searching for an outstanding educator with enthusiasm, leadership, and vision.

Because the Department of Education and Classical Learning aims to prepare students for teaching and leadership in public, Catholic, and classical schools, the ideal candidate will be able to demonstrate excellence in teaching, scholarship, and service; have an active scholarly agenda; deliver courses in online, blended, and traditional settings at the undergraduate and graduate levels; and complement and support the University's mission and liberal arts core curriculum, demonstrating strong communication and leadership skills.

Start date is August 21, 2024

PRIMARY RESPONSIBILITIES
