

Thomas A. Anderson

Dallas, TX | 101.001.1010 | name@udallas.edu | LinkedIn

Summary

Cybersecurity graduate student experienced in risk analysis, matrices, and threat detection. Successful financial analyst with additional experience in sales and customer service.

Skills

Risk Analysis and Threat Detection
Penetration Testing
Advanced Microsoft Excel

Financial Transaction Processing
Data Analysis
Critical and Analytical Thinking

Education

Master of Science, Cybersecurity
University of Dallas, Irving, TX

August 2020

Relevant Coursework:

Digital Forensics; Network Security; Penetration Testing and Vulnerability; Operational Cybersecurity Management

Bachelor of Business Administration
University of Chicago, Chicago, IL

January 2005

Cybersecurity Projects

Network Security Plan

- Describe the project, the tools you used and the results.
- Describe the project, the tools you used and the results.

Network Design

- Describe the project, the tools you used and the results.
- Describe the project, the tools you used and the results.

Experience

Executive Field Agent

June 2011 – Present

Zion, Inc., Dallas, TX

- Analyze performance and intentions of local corporate and high net worth individuals, evaluating their standing on enlightenment and introducing them to what Zion, Inc. has to offer.
- Compiled research in the field and used findings to formulate strategic plans against terrorist advances.

Computer Programmer

MetaCortex, Chicago, IL

June 2005 – June 2011

- Increased company processing speeds by 14% in one year.
- Managed team of 15 computer sales representatives.
- Analyzed metrics and developed tactical programming aligned with sales objectives.
- Collaborated with upper management to develop computer training materials.
- Participated in corporate leadership training.